

Launch of PFM Partnership Awards 2022 categories

3 years ago

With the categories for the PFM Partnership Awards 2022 now live, entries can be submitted at any time between now and the deadline of Wednesday, 11 May.

This date once again coincides with this year's World FM Day to assist with both celebrating the event and focusing entrants to ensure their submissions arrive on time.

There is no need to submit any hard copies and all information can be emailed to PFM editor Dennis Flower at dennis.flower@imlgroup.co.uk

All potential entrants to the PFM Partnership Awards 2022 are additionally welcome to email Mr Flower to request Teams, Zoom or live meetings to discuss the awards and hear what the judges will be looking for prior to submitting their entries.

In addition to the launch of this year's Partnership categories, there is further exciting news in that the PFM Awards team is planning to reintroduce live judging visits to all the finalists by the independent panel of judges.

This aspect was changed to reflect the needs of everyone over the last two years and help to deal with restrictions relating to the Coronavirus pandemic.

Entrants are also advised that judging interviews may have to be adapted to online video calls resulting from further Covid-19 concerns and confirmation of any changes will be publicised throughout the PFM brand as soon as these are agreed.

Those planning to submit entries for the Account Director of the Year, Young Leader of the Year or Peter Middup Lifetime Achievement in FM categories are advised that these will have later deadlines of July and August, which will be confirmed at a later date.

Sponsorship opportunities enquiries should be directed to PFM sales manager Reece Goodfellow (reece.goodfellow@imlgroup.co.uk), who can also provide more information on table sales.
