

Fairhurst Buckley makes new appointment to the Agency Team

3 years ago

Stockport based chartered surveyors and commercial property experts, Fairhurst Buckley, are gearing-up for future growth and strengthening their existing agency team with the appointment of Mark Wilkinson, taking the company's total staff number to 23.

Mark, who is joining the agency team, brings with him 15 years of local real estate experience. Mark has previously handled both commercial and residential property for a locally based estate agent and has worked closely with Fairhurst Buckley for a number of years.

Since joining the company, Mark has used his previous experience to spearhead the integration of a new cloud-based CRM system to streamline operations and provide a platform on which Fairhurst Buckley can fulfil their ambitions of growth.

David Buckley, who heads up the agency team, is delighted that Mark's expertise has already benefited the entire company: "In light of the recent pandemic, we needed to ensure that our systems were not only efficient but also robust and capable of accommodating remote working with minimum disruption. In this new era of hybrid working, this cloud-based system allows us secure access, from anywhere at any time, without any disruption to our workflow or service to our clients".

Following the merger between Fairhurst Estates and Buckley Commercial in early 2020, Fairhurst Buckley now provide a broad range of property services, including commercial sales and lettings, acquisitions, property management, building consultancy and surveys, valuations, lease advisory services and facilities management.
