

Team Q Maintenance forms part of Global GSH Group

3 years ago

Team Q Maintenance is thrilled to announce that it now forms part of the global GSH Group.

Team Q will continue to operate autonomously with the existing leadership team delivering intelligent maintenance solutions including scheduled maintenance, 24/7 reactive support, project services, asset management and compliance services to businesses throughout the UK.

Team Q now has access to significant GSH Group resource and support functions including cutting-edge sustainability and energy management services to expand the breadth of FM services at the highest service levels.

CEO of the GSH Group, Mark Thomas said: "The GSH Group was founded in the UK, so we are proud to be going back to our roots. We have enjoyed significant growth in the USA and the integration of Team Q will cement a stronger platform for us in the UK and offer a springboard for Europe. We're very much looking forward to working closely with the talented workforce at Team Q."

"Team Q will be embraced in GSH's corporate goal of becoming carbon neutral by 2023, which is far ahead of any other FM provider."

Guy Busfield, Managing Director, Team Q added: "We are excited to become part of the GSH Group. This acquisition will allow Team Q to develop a greater strength in the energy market. With GSH's long standing history, corporate resources leading FM technologies and global footprint, we'll be able to offer our customer base a greater level of expertise."
