

PTSG serves up electrical services for Stoats

3 years ago

Premier Technical Services Group Ltd \(PTSG\) has completed specialist electrical works for Stoats – producers of wholesome oats.

Stoats began by making porridge in a little food truck for festival goers, and has grown to running a bustling bakery in Edinburgh today. The company has remained proudly independent and committed to delivering simply made, honest, delicious food.

All products are still hand-made, and its dedicated bakers combine wholesome, natural ingredients with around 20 years' experience on average to create Stoats products.

Engineers from PTSG Electrical Services Ltd delivered a full test and inspection of the lightning protection system in place at the site in Edinburgh for Stoats. Such inspections are mandatory on an annual basis to comply with industry regulations (BS6651 and BS EN 62305). PTSG is the UK's leading provider of lightning protection services and ensures compliance on a wide range of building services in addition to lightning and surge protection systems.

Image credit: Shutterstock