

Soloist Building Transformed by GRAHAM Fit-out

3 years ago

GRAHAM has transformed the redundant space on the ground floor of the Soloist Building in Belfast city centre, with the aim of securing 100% full occupancy.

Over the course of the intensive programme, “move-in ready” office space, inclusive of two suites measuring 7,000 square feet, was created to the highest specification standards.

Each suite now consists of approximately 80 workstations. Bespoke informal meeting pods, premium breakout space and collaboration areas, three dedicated meeting rooms, and two large break out areas provide an ultra-modern working environment.

The project is the fourth Belfast-based interior fit-out scheme which GRAHAM has delivered in partnership with Capital London.

Mark Gibson, GRAHAM Managing Director – Interior Fit-Out, explains:

“GRAHAM Interior Fit-Out prides itself on repeat business and working in the true spirit of partnership with our clients. Since 2016, we have built a strong collaborative relationship with Capital London, and this latest project at the Soloist Building is a further example of the success of our approach. We have created a dynamic and flexible modern working environment that will be in high demand.”

GRAHAM collaborated with HMK, Ply Design, and FM Stewart in the delivery of this latest project.

Praising the finished product, Mark, added:

“This ground floor modernisation scheme has strengthened the Soloist Building’s reputation as one of the most prestigious office locations in the city. The standard of finish is exceptional. Our thanks go to the GRAHAM supply chain who we look forward to working with again in the future.”
