

GSH Group appoints new Chief Operating Officer

3 years ago

Effective immediately, GSH Group is pleased to announce the promotion of Steve Wallis to the position of Chief Operating Officer.

One of GSH's longest tenured employees, Steve has spent his career defining and delivering service excellence in the facilities management industry.

Steve first joined GSH as an HVAC Apprentice in 1998 in his native England and went on to relocate to the United States. While in the USA he quickly advanced to the roles of Project Manager, Regional Director of Operations and eventually Vice President of Operations.

Mark Thomas, Group CEO, said: "We are extremely excited to announce this promotion. Steve has worked tirelessly to manage and grow the business in his numerous roles within GSH. This promotion now allows for the strategic development of the business across North America for the foreseeable future."

Kevin O'Keeffe, Group CFO, said: "Steve's determination and leadership have been instrumental to the growth of GSH within the United States. His elevation to this position, is just another step in the natural progression of his career and one we as an organisation are proud of."
