

Inviron accelerates its Public Sector offering with new Board appointment

3 years ago

Technical facilities service experts Inviron have appointed Andy Voase to the role of Executive Director – Head of Public Sector.

Reporting directly to Noel Clancy (Managing Director) Andy has joined the Inviron Board and will play a critical role in driving service excellence across their Public Sector contracts.

Having previously spent 20 years in the army and the last 12 years within the FM industry, Andy brings a wealth of experience in working with education, justice, health and central government customers.

This newly created role further builds on the Inviron strategy and follows significant growth within the Public sector markets.

Andy commented “I have thoroughly enjoyed my first few months with Inviron. The company has some fantastic systems and people who are utterly committed to their customers. My focus in the coming months is to harness this passion to ensure we deliver service excellence to our end users and help them drive their agendas, which are increasingly focused on building availability and carbon net zero. I am hugely looking forward to being part of the Inviron journey.”
