

PTSG delivers services at new Barking community

3 years ago

Premier Technical Services Group Ltd \(PTSG\) is involved in two phases of a new community in Barking, East London, where its engineers are installing specialist access and safety systems and equipment.

Fielders Quarter is a collection of new homes in Barking, part of the award-winning Barking Riverside redevelopment and the wider regeneration of the area. These homes will appeal to families, first-time buyers, and commuters travelling to central London, 12 miles away.

A choice of nature reserves within the community provide a haven for countless species and are perfectly complemented by The Wilds at Barking Riverside. With a café kiosk and beautiful gardens to explore, this amazing ecology centre will help raise awareness of the unique local wildlife and make it even easier to connect with nature. Additionally, its co-working spaces provide the perfect place to be inspired.

Engineers from PTSG Access & Safety Ltd have secured a contract for Phase 4 of the redevelopment and are currently designing systems for Phase 5. This involved a variety of fall protection and rope access provision to all operatives to safely access the façade of buildings in order to carry out maintenance work.