

Inviron wins new Data Centre contract with AtlasEdge

3 years ago

Inviron is delighted to announce it has won a new contract with AtlasEdge.

AtlasEdge is a European data centre business with a mission to create Europe's leading edge platform, delivering seamless, localised and ultra-low latency digital infrastructure to customers.

Formed through a joint investment by Liberty Global and DigitalBridge, AtlasEdge has an expanding portfolio of more than 100 data centres across the continent, providing proximity to the core network that is critical for the technology of tomorrow.

Inviron has successfully been awarded a contract for two data centre facilities in London and Leeds and has been appointed as a long term Framework Partner, supporting AtlasEdge's future growth and development in the UK. Their technical knowledge, industry insight were key factors in Inviron's selection.

Barry Sheridan, Business Unit Director commented: We are delighted to form a new partnership with AtlasEdge. Through the engagement process, we were able to demonstrate the necessary expertise and capabilities required in this critical space and prove that we are a partner of choice. We look forward to seeing our relationship mature and in supporting AtlasEdge through their growth in the UK."

Marcel de Ruijter, AtlasEdge Director of Data Centre Operations said: "Inviron has established an excellent reputation for first-class reliability, support and expertise – all delivered with the highest professionalism. We look forward to working closely together as we continue to grow AtlasEdge and deliver a best-in-class service for our customers."