

Moneyppenny boosts ESG priorities with a new key role

3 years ago

Leading outsourced communications provider Moneyppenny is boosting its focus on ESG (Environment, Social, and Governance) with the recruitment of Sophie Hughes-Saunier in the new the role of ESG Coordinator.

Sophie's role will encompass activities relating to ESG, and she has a particularly strong passion for environmental matters. She has been at Moneyppenny since February 2014, working in the SME clients team, until the opportunity arose for her to take on the newly created role.

Joanna Swash, CEO of Moneyppenny, added: "This new ESG role represents a major milestone in Moneyppenny's development, and we are delighted that Sophie is taking on the challenge to ensure ESG matters are central to all our operations. We've always been proud of the work we've done to enhance the lives of our people, of those in our local community, and of the environment in which we live and work, and we look forward to implementing further initiatives to enhance the happiness of all."

Sophie commented: "I love the fact that this new role allows me to collaborate with all areas of the business, to make Moneyppenny an even better company. I'm looking forward to taking on more responsibility for a wider range of ESG plans and policies, to make a real difference. I have a lifelong passion for environmental and social sustainability, so I relish the opportunity to continue to help make Moneyppenny an outstanding place to work by doing the right thing for our team, this community, and the world around us."

Established in 2000, Moneyppenny is the world's market leader for Telephone Answering, Live Chat, Outsourced Switchboard, and customer contact solutions. More than 21,000 businesses globally benefit from Moneypenny's mix of extraordinary people and ground-breaking technology. For more information, visit moneypenny.co.uk