

iDoor Solutions: a new name with a proven pedigree

3 years ago

GHL Industrial Doors, the nationwide industrial doors installation, repair and maintenance specialist, has unveiled a new company name, iDoor Solutions, with a new logo and new website as part of an extensive rebranding initiative.

Building on the company's 13 years' experience as a trusted supplier of bespoke solutions in the industrial doors, dock levellers, gates and barriers sector, the new corporate image and identity are reflective of iDoor Solutions' professional approach and unrivalled customer service.

Steve Shakespeare, Managing Director at iDoor Solutions, says: "The new brand perfectly illustrates our growing ambition, and provides a unique opportunity for iDoor Solutions to become synonymous with quality, service and professionalism in the industry.

"We take an uncompromising approach to health & safety through recognised quality standards, driving excellence through training and development, by promoting preventative maintenance we ensure compliance with the latest legislation. This industry is developing at great pace, and we are at the forefront of progress."

The new website idoorsolutions.co.uk provides an enhanced online presence that showcases the company's solutions and services, with easy navigation and strong branding.

Alongside the rebrand, a significant investment supports iDoor Solutions' ambitious growth plans, with a focus on continued expansion across the UK, customer growth and promoting professionalism and health & safety across the industry. This investment includes a new fleet of vans equipped with MiTower One-Person Quick Build scaffold towers to allow iDoor Solutions fully trained service engineers to work safely at height without the need for additional access support.

A division of Aprolis UK, iDoor Solutions offers a nationwide service that includes site surveys, new installations, maintenance and repair of industrial doors and dock leveller systems. Its network of highly skilled, well trained, and certified mobile engineers provide the right solution to customers, with 24/7 support. Having access to a wide range of high-quality products, technical information, and spare parts ensures iDoor Solutions can offer quality at very competitive prices.
