

Appointment of business development manager confirmed

2 years ago

Business Moves Group (BMG), the office relocation and workplace change management specialists, has appointed Karen Adams as business development manager.

She will be focused on business development in the north of England and Scotland in key locations including Edinburgh, Glasgow, Leeds, Liverpool, Manchester and Newcastle. She has been in business development for 14 years and has previous experience in the commercial relocation industry.

The appointment follows the hiring of Andy Crawford as director of the northern region and Scotland earlier this year. The strengthening of this team demonstrates a commitment from BMG to ramp up operations in the north and support more businesses with a wide array of services, from office relocation to digitised furniture and asset management.

Ms Adams said: "I'm delighted to start the next chapter of my career with Business Moves Group. I expect a lot of businesses to move forward with workplace change projects in 2023 after a period of planning and I can't wait to start helping major companies achieve their workplace goals."

Mr Crawford added: "I've had the pleasure of working with Karen before, so I know exactly what she'll bring to our team – professionalism, charisma and a great nous for business development."
