

KI support the 'Change by Design' Lounge at Workspace Design Show

3 years ago

After its debut in 2021, the Workspace Design Show will return on 27 and 28 February at the Business Design Centre in London with the theme of Destination Workplace.

This year will also feature the new Bio Materials exhibition, giving visitors the opportunity to discover new ideas and materials that will become integral for future sustainable designs.

This year also showcases a Change by Design lounge concept, which has been designed by major architectural practice, BDP. The space has been created to provide discussion about the impact of workplace design on the environment, and to give inspiration on how the issues of adaptability, reusability, recyclability, and recycled content can be addressed.

Supporters of the event include office furniture and accessories provider KI Europe.