London-based commercial cleaning company, Julius Rutherford & Co, has been named as a finalist in the EMEA Inspiring Workplaces Awards.

It is shortlisted as one of the Top 50 Inspiring Workplaces, alongside companies such as All Saints and the BBC Studios. This recognition is a testament to the company's people-centric approach and its dedication to nurturing a positive workplace culture.

The EMEA Inspiring Workplaces Awards recognises and celebrates companies that are leading the way in creating inspiring workplace cultures across Europe, the Middle East, and Africa.

Managing director Chris Jarvis said: "A positive and inspiring workplace culture is key to the success of our business. We strive to create an environment where every team member feels valued, supported, and empowered to do their best work.

"This recognition from the EMEA Inspiring Workplaces Awards is a testament to our efforts to foster a workplace culture that prioritises employee engagement, wellbeing, and growth.

"We are proud to be among the finalists for this prestigious award, and we look forward to the awards ceremony in May, where the winners will be announced. We would like to take this opportunity to congratulate all the other finalists and thank the EMEA Inspiring Workplaces Awards organisers for their recognition and support."
