FM Recruiter, the facilities management sector exclusive job board, has just launched a Spring Special Offer to encourage even more businesses to try out the service.

If you are looking for FM talent right now, or planning to in the near future, now is the time to take a look at FM Recruiter, the platform for all FM employers and job seekers.

Due to the success of a similar trial offer on sister job board RBD Rail Recruiter, which advertises more than 1,300 rail sector jobs, this Spring Special Offer is now available in the FM sector for a limited time.

From now, until 31 May 2023, businesses can choose from two introductory offers:

- 5 jobs credits for £700.
- 10 jobs credits for £1,200.

Benefits include:

- Pay as little as £120 per job credit.
- Featured recruiter status.
- 1 x featured job in the FM Recruiter newsletter.
- 1 x social media post to promote your jobs.
- Responses direct to your inbox, or redirect applicants to your website.
- Use your job posting credits when you need to at any time in the next 12 months.

Managing director Dean Bruce says: "We set up FM Recruiter to be a force for good in the facilities management sector, pure and simple.

"Making it easy for companies in FM to advertise and fill vacancies – tapping into a captive pool of available talent. And making it easy for talented people to match their skills with the latest opportunities.

"We feature jobs from across the whole of the FM sector, so why not take advantage of this limited Spring Special Offer today and find the talented people you need to make your business grow."
