

ISS announces appointment of James Sharkey as Head of Group Marketing

2 years ago

ISS A/S has announced the appointment of James Sharkey as Head of Group Marketing from 3 April 2023.

James Sharkey brings over 20 years of marketing experience and an outstanding track record in building and leading multi-region marketing teams and deploying robust marketing strategies.

James has spent the last 15 years in the marketing team of another global facility management company, where he played a key role in globalising and professionalising the function to support the business across key commercial segments. Prior to this role, he worked in various marketing and operational positions for Enterprise Inns PLC and General Electric (GE) among others.

At GE, he graduated from the GE management training program.

"I am thrilled to welcome James Sharkey to the ISS team. His extensive marketing experience and proven track record of delivering innovative solutions and leading multi-region teams will be invaluable to our business. I am confident that James will be instrumental in driving our marketing strategy forward and supporting our continued commercial growth," said Agostino Renna, Group Chief Commercial Officer at ISS.
