

JLL appoints new head of UK Project & Cost Management and Net Zero Design Consulting

2 years ago

JLL has appointed Nick Winter as its head of UK Project & Cost Management and Net Zero Design Consulting.

In his new role, Nick will be responsible for leading a national team of project, development and decarbonisation experts across of a variety of sectors to deliver lasting value from built assets.

Nick joins from Unispace where he was the Regional MD for Northern Europe. Prior to his tenure at Unispace, he spent eight years with CBRE in leadership roles.

Nick replaces Aimee Baker who has led the team for the last three years and has transitioned into a new role in New Zealand, responsible for leading and expanding JLL's Project and Development Services business there. Nick Winter, "I'm excited to embark on this new journey at JLL, working with the team to further strengthen JLL's Project and Developments Services offering to bring the best results to our investor and occupier clients in the UK."

Walid Goudiard, Head of Project & Development Services EMEA at JLL added, "Nick's outstanding track record in delivering client-centric outcomes and growing teams will enhance our current strengths to shape value-add projects and future-proof the built environment, from the smallest spaces to the most complex and iconic schemes."