

LEEA launches new PLM and MLM courses

2 years ago

LEEA is now offering members the PLM (Powered Lifting Machines) Manual Lifting Machines (MLM) Global courses in English, Arabic, Bahasa, Brazilian Portuguese and Simplified Chinese.

These are the latest additions to the market leading training courses being rolled out as part the Association's state-of-the-art Academy 2.0 platform.

LEEA's all new Foundation Certificate training course - FOU (Global), is already available in these languages online to all members, as is the Lifting Accessories Course, LAC (Global). This latter course replaces the previous 'Lifting Equipment General (LEG) Diploma'. The assessment for these courses has been updated and refined to provide a robust and high-quality service.

Introducing courses to the platform means members can carry out their training when they want, how they want and for as long as they want. The platform is suitable for any device and has an offline study capability with auto-sync updates once back online. LEEA's substantial investment into a technology upgrade in its Huntingdon training centre makes e-learning a real option for learners. Equipped with high tech cameras, speakers, microphones and other equipment LEEA staff can hold classes with delegates from across the world and deliver training via Zoom with maximum effectiveness.

Holders of the LEEA's new 'smart' TEAM Card, which provides instantly verifiable data when required, will have any new qualifications updated by the LEEA team when changes occur.

LEEA expects these exceptional new courses to be extremely popular with members and looks forward to hearing feedback from participants. Watch this space for news of more courses being rolled out on the Academy 2.0 platform.
