

New company director promotion confirmed

2 years ago

ERP solutions provider Global Shop Solutions has announced the promotion of Trent Maynard to director of Product & Engineering within the business.

“Our primary focus at Global Shop Solutions has always been to simplify manufacturing for our customers,” said company president Dusty Alexander. “From Trent’s first day with us, he demonstrated a relentless attitude for finding new product advancements and technology to make our customers’ lives easier. That’s exactly the kind of person I want leading our product into the future.”

Mr Maynard began his career in the manufacturing industry working for a customer of the company before joining to provide software implementation and training for new and existing customers.

He then transitioned to become an operations and technical consultant and business analyst, where he designed and created tailored solutions for existing and potential customer challenges.

Prior to this promotion, he served as an R&D manager and created some of the company’s most impactful product advancements in terms of meeting customer needs and positioning the company for new growth.
