

SPIE UK Secures Edinburgh Leisure Contract Win for Fire and Security Maintenance

2 years ago

SPIE UK, a division of the Imtech Group, has been awarded a major contract to provide fire and security maintenance services to Edinburgh Leisure, the largest leisure trust in Scotland. The three-year contract was awarded following a competitive tender process, and it represents a significant win for SPIE UK's Fire & Security business.

Edinburgh Leisure is a charity registered in Scotland, dedicated to making a positive difference by creating opportunities for everyone to get active, stay active and achieve more with over five million customer visits across 29 venues which include the European International Climbing Arena as well as the Royal Commonwealth Pool. Under the contract, SPIE UK's Scottish team will carry out routine maintenance of fire, intruder alarm, and CCTV systems across Edinburgh Leisure's sites. The team will use their expertise in fire and security systems to ensure that all equipment is operating at peak performance and meets the highest standards of safety and security.

Commenting on the contract win, Andrew Sweeney, Operations Manager at SPIE UK, said: "We are delighted to have been awarded this major contract to provide fire and security maintenance services to Edinburgh Leisure. Our experienced team of engineers has the expertise and skillsets required to ensure that all equipment is maintained to the highest standards of safety and security. We look forward to working with Edinburgh Leisure to deliver a high-quality service that meets their needs."

The contract represents a new customer win for SPIE UK which came about as a result of a competitive tender process. The competition was fierce, with multiple bidders including the incumbent contractors.

However, SPIE UK's track record of delivering high-quality services, combined with its expertise in fire and security systems, set it apart from the competition.

"We were impressed with the quality of SPIE UK's submission, which demonstrated their expertise in fire and security systems," said Mark Tunnicliff, Procurement Manager at Edinburgh Leisure. "We look forward to working with SPIE UK to ensure that our facilities are safe and secure for all our users."
