

Stadium Support Services announce renewed cleaning contract partnership with Farnborough International Exhibition & Conference Centre

3 years ago

London based Facilities Management company, Stadium Support Services, specialising in Reactive Maintenance, Cleaning, and Rope Access, secure two-year renewal cleaning contract with Farnborough International Exhibition & Conference Centre.

Known for delivering world-class events such as the British Motor Show, Screwfix Live, and the Farnborough International Airshow, the venue also offers dynamic, purpose-built facilities and spaces for a wide range of film productions.

The new deal sees the renewed development of their partnership, where Stadium Support Services will continue to provide the ongoing core cleaning services within the unique 12,000 sqm exhibition space for a further 2 years.

The agreement builds upon the previous contract to provide ongoing deep cleaning services to the extensive site, adding extended event cleaning management services to the scope. The new contract highlights Stadium Support Services' accomplishments with long-term specialist contracts. It demonstrates the successful model of one high-performing, cost-effective, and efficient provider. Stadium Support Services will continue providing best-in-class guidance, specialist cleaning services, and standards tailored to the customer's needs.

For Scott Hudson, Operations Director at Stadium Support Services, the new deal showcases the significant commitment and valued partnership from one of the UK's most iconic venues:

Scott Hudson, Operations Director at Stadium Support Services, said: "I am thrilled that such an important customer has once again recognised Stadium Support Services as the best solution provider for its specialist cleaning requirements. The new agreement is a testament to the excellent work performed by our team and, is a huge vote of confidence for our growing business. We are excited to drive forward to the next phase, delivering exemplary cleaning services to a valued customer."

Chris Dillon, Head of Venue Operations at Farnborough International Ltd, said: "Farnborough International prides itself on working with industry-leading, like-minded suppliers and partners across our operations. As a host of more than 60 events per year and counting, it's imperative that we maintain the highest level of cleanliness in the most efficient manner. It has been fantastic to work with Stadium Support Services on our extensive cleaning operation, and I look forward to strengthening our partnership over the next two years."
