

PTSG protects East London residences

May 30, 2023

Premier Technical Services Group Ltd (PTSG) has been contracted to deliver specialist electrical services at an art deco style residential development in Bow, East London.

Marina Court, situated close to Bow Road Tube, offers mainly two-bedroom apartments benefiting from west-facing communal gardens. The art deco style of architecture in which these apartments were built was popular in the 1920s and 1930s. Art Deco combined modern styles with fine craftsmanship and rich materials. During its heyday, it represented luxury, glamour, exuberance, and faith in social and technological progress. Residential apartment blocks such as Marina Court have retained their distinctive period features, while making way for modern interiors.

In this contract, engineers from PTSG Electrical Services Ltd will install a bespoke lightning protection system that will protect the buildings and users alike in the event of an electrical storm. PTSG is highly experienced at working with historical buildings, ensuring that any new work is undertaken in a way that won't affect the original aesthetic.
