

PTSG to work at BP Sunbury

2 years ago

Premier Technical Services Group Ltd \(PTSG\) has been awarded a new contract to deliver specialist building services for several buildings at BP's site at Sunbury.

Located in Sunbury-on-Thames in Greater London, the International Centre for Business and Technology (ICBT) is a cornerstone in the delivery of BP's business worldwide. The site is 'home' to some 3,500 people from across the globe, working in more than 55 different international business teams. It is also arguably the most diverse location in the world for BP with more than 50 different nationalities, most major world religions represented and on any given day some 30 languages can be heard.

The initial scope of this contract will see engineers from PTSG Building Access Specialists Ltd replacing steel tie-rods for the roof stanchions on six buildings (A, B, C, F, G and H) at BP's site in Sunbury. The project is due to start in July and run for a period of approximately seven months.

PTSG is highly qualified in this kind of work; its steeplejack and rope access engineers provide specialist steelwork, and many other kinds of work, on buildings within all industry sectors.
