

Anders+Kern (A+K), strengthens end-to-end smart workplace systems through acquisition by Aukett Swanke Group (ASG) Plc

2 years ago

Anders+Kern, a leading distributor of smart workplace systems, is pleased to announce its acquisition by Aukett Swanke Group PLC (AIM: AUK).

ASG is a renowned provider of Smart Buildings, Architectural, and Design Services. This strategic collaboration marks a significant step forward for Anders+Kern, strengthening its position in the distribution of innovative smart workplace solutions and unlocking new growth opportunities.

Anders+Kern has consistently provided cutting-edge hardware, software, and installation services to enhance room and desk booking systems, as well as IoT sensors for monitoring environmental and occupancy data.

Aukett Swanke Group Plc's recognition of Anders+Kern's expertise and market presence has led to this acquisition of A+K. By joining forces with Aukett Swanke Group (ASG), Anders+Kern is poised to accelerate its growth and take its smart workplace solutions to new heights.

Under the leadership of Barrie Meehan, former Technical Director of Anders+Kern, and Alison Taylor, former Operations Manager of Anders+Kern, the business will continue its operations as a key part of the Aukett Swanke group. Barrie Meehan will serve as the Managing Director, while Alison Taylor will assume the role of Operations Director for Anders+Kern.

Barrie Meehan, Managing Director of A+K, said: "This acquisition is a positive step for Anders+Kern to continue building its success in smart workplace solutions, with both hardware and software offerings. We are excited to be part of the Aukett Swanke Group and look forward to working together with the group's architectural and design services."