

Westgrove Group secures Hairpin House technical services contract

2 years ago

Warrington based, fast growing Facilities Management company, The Westgrove Group has recently secured a new contract at Hairpin House in Birmingham, a build-to-rent development with 237 apartments.

Under the agreement, Westgrove will provide mechanical, electrical and life safety maintenance and compliance inspections to ensure the smooth operation of Hairpin House.

As the first of the ila's (I Live Around) neighbourhoods to complete, Hairpin House aims to elevate the BTR market by creating people-first communities that celebrate from the culture and heritage of its location. Hairpin House pays homage to its historic location, once home to Kirby Beard & Co, renowned for inventing the Kirby Grip hairpin.

"We are thrilled to collaborate with Westgrove Group for the technical services at Hairpin House," said Catrin Morgan, Operations Director at ila. "Their expertise and professionalism will ensure that our residents enjoy a safe and comfortable living environment, in line with our commitment to exceptional quality."

Claire McKinley-Smith, Group Managing Director expressed delight in partnering with the ila team and supporting their growth. McKinley-Smith emphasized the company's commitment to delivering quality service and working in line with ila's vision of creating stylish and proud communities.

Paul Booth, Technical Services Director, added, "This contract award is fantastic news for Westgrove and showcases the tremendous growth our Technical Services business has achieved over the past three years."

Westgrove is a facilities management company that provides planned and reactive maintenance, security, cleaning, and customer service to corporate offices, shopping centres, mixed-use destinations, manufacturing, and business parks throughout the UK.

Established in 1998 by Simon Whittle and Steve Fives, the Westgrove Group is proudly celebrating its 25th anniversary this year.
