

Global real estate FM contract awarded by Rolls-Royce

2 years ago

JLL has been appointed by power and propulsion business Rolls-Royce to run its global FM operations across the company's real estate portfolio in China, Germany, India, Singapore, the United Kingdom and the United States.

As part of the long-term contract starting in February 2024, the company will operate as Rolls-Royce's exclusive strategic global FM partner across 15m square feet of manufacturing, warehouse and office space at 44 sites in six countries. Powered by its proprietary technology and data-driven insights, it will play a pivotal role in providing FM services to accelerate operational initiatives, deliver exceptional employee experiences, and help Rolls-Royce achieve its sustainability commitments.

Global head of property services Andrew McManus said: "Effectively planning, managing and operating our diverse real estate locations to create safe, sustainable and inspiring environments for our people has never been more important for us as we navigate the changing world of work.

"We look forward to having JLL as our global strategic partner, driving best practices and efficiencies across our diverse real estate portfolio."

Work Dynamics CEO Neil Murray said: "Facilities management plays a critical role in building resilience and creating a better workplace experience and outcomes in any enterprise's portfolio. JLL's global footprint, and an end-to-end approach to real estate including an in-house technology division, allows us to uniquely support Rolls-Royce in optimizing their portfolio and creating efficiencies to support their long-term strategy and achieve operational sustainability goals. "I am excited for JLL as we embark on this journey with Rolls-Royce and am proud of this new partnership, built on a shared purpose to drive better experience, performance and sustainability."
