

Vertas Group receives three ISO certifications

2 years ago

The Vertas Group is proud to announce that we have achieved three ISO certifications with the British Standards Institute, a UKAS-accredited certification body. These certifications demonstrate the Group's dedication to delivering and continually improving our high-quality products and services in a safe and sustainable way.

- ISO 9001:2015 Quality Management System certification highlights the Group's ability to consistently deliver services that meet and exceed our customer and regulatory requirements and is a testament to our commitment to ensuring customer satisfaction.
- ISO 14001:2015 Environmental Management certification showcases the Group's dedication to improving environmental performance through effective life cycle analysis, efficient use of resources, minimising waste, and an unwavering commitment to sustainability.
- ISO 45001:2018 Occupational Health and Safety certification confirms the Group's evaluation of health and safety regulations and demonstrates our ongoing commitment to preventing work-related injuries and ill-health, and to providing safe and healthy workplaces.

Lee Burden, Vertas Group's Head of HSQE, said: "Achieving these certifications is a fantastic achievement for the Vertas Group. They provide assurance to clients and colleagues that we are committed to excellence in all that we do."
