

NG Bailey forms partnership with Yorkshire Dales Millennium Trust as part of Net Positive Strategy

3 years ago

NG Bailey has recently formed a one-year partnership with the Yorkshire Dales Millennium Trust (YDMT). They are an independent charity that do big things to help protect and enhance the people, landscape, and wildlife of the Yorkshire Dales.

They have supported the creation of new native woodlands since 1996 to ensure there is awareness of how nature has endless benefits for all.

As a business, NG Bailey chose to support YDMT to help improve colleagues' mental health by giving the opportunity to help create new woodlands and green spaces, so people can feel the benefits of connecting with nature and people.

A spokesperson said: "Habitat creation is one of the best ways we can protect the health of our planet for future generations, and it is known that gardens and green spaces are associated with better physical, social, and mental health.

"As a business, we are aware of how important it is to protect nature and biodiversity and the key role it can play in our everyday state of mind as part of our overarching Net Positive Strategy."
