

Senior leadership appointment announced

2 years ago

Catering service provider Elior UK has announced the appointment of Matt Wood to its UK leadership team.

He is managing director of the company's corporate catering specialist Lexington Catering, which provides catering and hospitality services for organisations and independent schools to clients in the London area.

Mr Wood said: "It is a privilege to be appointed to the leadership team and I look forward to sharing my experience and the successes of Lexington with my fellow directors and hope to inspire new ideas for the company. Lexington will remain my priority area of focus and, I hope to continue to grow the business with the support of my excellent team."

Chief executive officer Catherine Roe said: "Since late last year, Matt has reported directly to me and I have witnessed his skill and knowledge first-hand. I have seen how he has developed Lexington in terms of growth, innovation and the personal development of his team and it feels like a natural transition for Matt to join the executive team. I look forward to the new perspectives and insights he will bring to the wider company as we enter our new financial year."
