

High street bank invests in PTSG's expertise

2 years ago

Premier Technical Services Group Ltd (PTSG), via constituent company ECS Group, is delivering specialist electrical services to a national high street bank.

High street banks are major commercial institutions that provide retail banking services to individuals and small-to mid-sized businesses. In addition to allowing customers to accept deposits, make withdrawals, investments and other kinds of savings, they also offer lending services such as overdraft protection, loans, lines of credit, and mortgages.

Just like other retail banks across the world, high street banks are coming under increasing pressure because of the competition created by niche and challenger banks.

PTSG Electrical Services Ltd delivers a reliable, cost-effective and high-quality service to ensure this high street banks meets its electrical requirements. The Group's electrical engineers are working in over 70 branches, delivering electrical compliance to ensure safety throughout all their buildings. PTSG is also now an approved registered FSQS (Financial Services Qualification System) supplier.
