

McLaren Construction wins 'HR Team of the Year' at the 2023 Construction News Workforce Awards.

2 years ago

In a prestigious ceremony held at Grosvenor House Hotel, London on Thursday 16 November 2023, organisations from across the construction industry were honoured across 18 categories in a night of recognition.

The awards celebrate the people striving to make construction a more inclusive industry, as well as the businesses doing outstanding work to improve the construction industry's reputation and employment practices.

Following a rigorous judging process conducted by HR, equality and diversity and organisational development leaders from inside and outside the industry, the McLaren Team emerged as the winner of HR Team of the Year for their work on the Culture of Learning campaign.

Construction News editor, Colin Marrs said:

"With the relentless march of technological innovation, not least artificial intelligence, it is sometimes easy to overlook the overriding importance individuals play in the construction sector. The CN Workforce Awards celebrates the people and organisations leading innovation within the industry.

"Our worthy winners are breaking new boundaries in areas such as mental health, improving diversity and inclusion, closing unfair pay gaps, and becoming more socially responsible. The winners demonstrate world-leading excellence, ensuring the construction industry remains a great place to work."