

PTSG and National Social Housing Safety & Compliance Week

3 years ago

National Social Housing Safety & Compliance Week takes place from 6 - 10 November with the theme 'Together for Safety'.

Now in its third year, National Social Housing Safety and Compliance Week launches a new movement 'Together for Safety', recognising that not one person or department, or organisation can deliver safe homes for residents - it involves everyone coming together.

Together for Safety will focus on four key strands:

- Together with Residents - resident engagement; working with representatives and panels; recognising residents' voices and supporting them to keep themselves, their families and communities safe.
- Together as a Sector - coming together with peers, contractors, and suppliers to help tackle joint challenges, share best practice, and raise standards.
- Together with Colleagues - working effectively and with joint purpose with other teams such as procurement, finance, and customer service; ensuring that the safety message is heard and prioritised throughout our organisations.
- Together with the Authorities - responding to, and working effectively within, a new Regulatory landscape.

The week is also dedicated to shining a spotlight on safety and compliance at all levels within Social Housing.
