

PTSG gives specialist treatment to leading vets

2 years ago

Premier Technical Services Group Ltd \(PTSG\), via constituent company HCS Water Treatment, is supporting Vets Now with specialist water treatment services.

Vets Now was founded in 2001 by Richard Dixon, a veterinary surgeon who understood the pressure of being on-call round the clock while also trying to maintain a good quality of life. His solution was Vets Now, a dedicated out-of-hours emergency and critical care service for pets.

In the following years, Richard and his team helped revolutionise the way emergency veterinary care was provided outside of normal surgery hours. He worked in partnership with local veterinary practices to offer vets and their clients an out-of-hours service. At the heart of this was a team of full-time vets, vet nurses and support staff who only worked at night, over weekends and during public holidays.

In this contract, the team of specialists from PTSG Water Treatment Ltd will deliver a variety of water treatment services at the Glasgow branch of Vets Now.
