

Savills Earth continues to grow its social value team

1 year ago

Savills has appointed Olivia Sutcliffe as an Associate in its Social Value team, cementing the firm's commitment to expanding its Savills Earth services.

Olivia, Founder and Chair of the Young Professionals in Social Value networking group, brings extensive experience. Formerly the Responsible Procurement Manager for the Greater London Authority and a Senior Social Value Advisor at the Social Value Portal, she has successfully driven social value strategy for clients. Olivia received a highly commended award in the 'Social Value Champion' category at the National Social Value Awards 2023.

As a key member of Savills Earth's social value team, Olivia will concentrate on assisting clients in maximising the social value of their projects and programs. Her role includes developing innovative strategies for impactful community engagement, further establishing Savills as industry leaders in the social value field.

Wesley Ankrah, Director of Social Value for Savills Earth, comments: "Widely recognised in the field of social value, Olivia's passion, dedication, and experience make her a valuable addition to our team. Since launching our social value services a year ago, the industry's growing demand has been evident. Olivia's expertise will significantly contribute to our continued success in delivering impactful social value strategies that exceed client and community expectations."

Olivia Sutcliffe, Associate, Social Value, Savills Earth, comments: "My mission is to make a difference in communities and drive the social value agenda. Joining Savills enables me to continue pushing the boundaries of what social value can achieve for residents and communities, delivering greater impact. I look forward to collaborating with leading industry experts in the Savills Earth team to advance the conversation on social value.”