

Reconomy promotes Paul Horrocks to Group Finance Director

2 years ago

Reconomy, an international circular economy specialist, is delighted to announce that Paul Horrocks has been promoted to Group Finance Director.

Paul has been at Reconomy for eight years as Group Financial Controller. Prior to Reconomy, Paul held the role of Group Financial Controller at Barhale, United Living Group and Bullock Construction Limited. He spent the first 14 years of his career working in Audit for Cheesmans and KPMG.

As a highly experienced financial steward, Paul has supported Reconomy's 26 acquisitions during his tenure, developing its capabilities and geographic reach. Reconomy's revenues have since grown from £85 million (FY 2016) to £1.2 billion (FY 2023) as the business has expanded to operate across more than 80 countries, with more than 4,000 colleagues and over 10,000 customers.

Reconomy is an international circular economy specialist that combines technology, skills and incredible people to enable businesses to better manage their resources, helping reduce waste, optimise their supply chains, and contribute in a meaningful way toward the circular economy.

John Sullivan, Chief Financial Officer at Reconomy, commented: "Paul has been a key component of the Reconomy story over the past eight years. He has supported on numerous acquisitions, and their integration, helping Reconomy transform into a £1.2 billion, international business with a strong foundation for even further success. We are thrilled that he will be stepping up to Group Finance Director to support our financial strategy and continued growth."

Paul Horrocks, Group Finance Director at Reconomy, added: "I am excited to continue helping Reconomy realise its exciting potential both through further acquisitions and organic growth. I have hugely enjoyed my eight years at Reconomy – it is an ambitious, innovative business that is playing a critical role in the transition to a circular economy.”
