

Arcus FM uses acquisition to revitalise projects division by appointing new Director of Projects

2 years ago

‘Technology Led, People Driven’ Facilities Management company Arcus FM uses the recent acquisition of the Trios Group to greatly increase the capabilities of their Projects business and welcomes a new Director of Projects.

After the acquisition of the Trios Group in August 2023, Arcus has been working hard behind the scenes to explore how they can best serve their customers and people throughout the integration. This includes revitalising their projects division, Arcus Projects.

Karl Lavery has been appointed as Director of Projects at Arcus FM, transitioning from his role as Projects and Commercial Director at the Trios Group. With over 20 years of experience in leading operations, projects, and business development across construction, engineering, and commercial real estate, Karl brings a wealth of expertise to the role as the business continues on its growth trajectory.

The integration of Arcus and Trios projects teams marks a significant milestone, bringing together a copious amount of experience and a shared commitment to excellence.

As Director of Projects, Karl will be leading strategic initiatives to ensure continued growth, customer satisfaction, and sustainability in the FM industry.

Stephen Saunders, Chief Operating Officer at Arcus FM said: “We are thrilled to be welcoming Karl Lavery as our new Project Director and we’re excited for what the future holds for our Projects business.

"His extensive experience and proven track record in leading operations and projects will be invaluable as we continue to grow and enhance our offering.

"Karl has been instrumental during the integration process in providing his support and expertise, and with the integration of the Arcus and Trios project teams, we are poised to deliver even greater value and excellence to our customers."

Karl Lavery, Director of Projects at Arcus FM said: "Individually, the Arcus and Trios project teams were already doing great things, and by integrating the strengths of both teams we've significantly bolstered our capabilities, cementing our dedication to continuous improvement and customer satisfaction.

"It has been an exciting few months working to support the integration and getting to know who Arcus is; a company that puts its people and customers first.

"I'm looking forward to expanding upon the work we've been doing, enhancing our customers' experience, and offering a truly national solution."
