

ISS and Barclays extend successful global contract with another 5 years

1 year ago

ISS A/S, a leading workplace experience and facility management company, today announces the extension of its global integrated facility services contract with Barclays. ISS will now continue to provide services to Barclays on a global scale until end-2029.

ISS and Barclays initiated the collaboration in 2012, and ISS will continue to provide a wide range of Integrated Facility Services, including cleaning, technical, support services, catering as well as workplace solutions across the bank's facilities in the UK and Ireland, Continental Europe, the Americas, Middle East, India and Asia & Pacific. The annual revenue from the contract represents around 2.5% of Group revenue.

With the new contract extension, ISS will work with Barclays to create workplace experiences across their corporate and retail environments. This collaboration will also contribute to Barclays' Net Zero ambitions and enhance great workplace experiences for their employees. Through a combination of advanced technology solutions and ISS's self-delivery model, ISS will continue to deliver cost-effective services and drive value creation for all parties.

"We have enjoyed a strong and mutually beneficial partnership with Barclays for more than a decade, delivering high-quality service solutions, and I am proud and excited for this next phase. We will continue to support Barclays in delivering excellent service experiences to their employees," says Kasper Fangel, Group CEO.
