1 year ago

mpro5, the process management app, showcases the latest IoT-powered innovations in workflow automation at Cisco Live! in Las Vegas, June 2nd – 6th at booth 5524. mpro5 successfully turns IoT data from third party cameras and sensors into real-world results for businesses in the grocery retail, contract catering and facilities management sectors.

The mpro5 team will be on hand in the World of Solutions to demonstrate the platform's operational excellence and seamless integration with Cisco Meraki IoT cameras and sensors. And to explain the benefits of integrating IoT data with its process management app to achieve smarter cleaning, maintenance, security, health & safety, and compliance processes.

mpro5 is one of the UK's most renowned process management apps with customers including Morrisons, Tesco and the NHS, digitalizing and enhancing their process management operations, improving efficiency and customer satisfaction.

Fred Whipp, VP of Business Development, at mpro5, said: "In an era where technology is evolving rapidly, the intersection of IoT and operational efficiency is increasingly vital. mpro5 solves crucial operational challenges for retail, catering and facilities management businesses around the globe, by closing the loop from alert to action to resolution. Individual clients have already saved over $1 million in printing costs, others have increased their productivity by 60% or achieved a 97% reduction in response times by automating cleaning, maintenance, and other processes."

Phil Meyers, CEO at mpro5, added: "Cisco Live! provides an outstanding platform for us to connect with industry leaders and potential partners, share valuable insights, and spotlight how mpro5 can enhance operational performance for businesses. Our participation reflects our unwavering commitment to innovation and collaboration within the Cisco Meraki ecosystem and the wider tech community.

"Participating in conferences of this calibre enables us to showcase our dedication to driving operational excellence and building meaningful connections within the industry. We eagerly anticipate engaging with attendees, sharing our expertise, and exploring the possibility of exciting joint ventures."

The mpro5 team will be at Cisco Live! in Las Vegas from Sunday 2nd to Thursday 6th of June at booth 5524 in the World of Solutions. mpro5 speaking slots are as follows:
