

PTSG to serve up water treatment to beef supplier

1 year ago

Premier Technical Services Group Ltd (PTSG) is to deliver specialist water services including purification for a beef supplier that first began trading in Edinburgh in the 1950s.

Stoddarts is a fully integrated beef supplier with long-established relationships with many of Scotland's biggest and best cattle farmers. A substantial number of these farmers sell their cattle exclusively to Stoddarts. Its procurement team only draws the appropriate animals when they have achieved the optimum finish.

This ensures that the farmers receive the maximum value for their animals and at the same time Stoddarts can deliver the highest levels of quality and consistency to its customers. The company's size and scale has allowed it to develop these uniquely personal and inclusive relationships.

PTSG Water Treatment Ltd engineers will deliver variety of services including purification to help maintain safety of Stoddarts' water systems. They will also extend their services to ensure compliance with regulations.

PTSG is a member of the Legionella Control Association (LCA). Its Quality Management System for all work activities is upgraded to the ISO 9001/ISO 14001/ISO 45001 standards. It is a Constructionline approved contractor and has accreditation with the Source Testing Association (STA), SafeContractor, CHAS and BOHS.
