1 year ago

Q3 has successfully secured and mobilised an Integrated Facilities Management (IFM) contract with a leading, UK-based, fire safety systems company.

The contract sees Q3 deliver a range of services including cleaning, security, pest control, landscaping, as well as mechanical and electrical services to the HQ and production plant, where the company design and manufacture high-quality fire detection solutions for commercial and industrial applications.

This is a first-generation IFM outsourcing project, which is something Q3 has built a reputation for managing, as it grown to understand the intricacies and special demands of these contracts, as well as the need for close cultural alignment between client and provider.
