

Organisational Changes at Lovat's Group

2 years ago

Lovat's Group, the Scottish building services company, has announced an important organisational change to better align its leadership with its strategic goals and to enhance the operational efficiency of the company.

Mike Floyd, currently the Managing Director, will be appointed as the Chief Executive Officer (CEO). In his new role, Mike will focus on the overall strategic direction, vision, and growth of the company, leveraging his extensive experience and leadership skills to drive the company forward.

Craig Cox will transition from his current role to become the new Managing Director. Craig brings a wealth of experience and a deep understanding of the firm's operations, and he will be responsible for managing the day-to-day operations of the company, ensuring operational excellence and the implementation of its strategic initiatives.

These changes reflect the company's commitment to strong leadership and its focus on achieving its business objectives. Lovat's Group is confident that Mike and Craig will excel in their new roles and continue to drive the company's success.