

A powerful new chapter at PTSG – inside this month's FM Director

12 months ago

The August issue of FM Director carries a brand-new special feature section that is a first for the industry-leading publication. The inaugural supplement, which sits at the centre of the magazine so it can be pulled out, tells the phenomenal story of Premier Technical Services Group Ltd (PTSG) and the new leadership team in place to take the organisation on an ambitious course of growth, cementing its position as the UK's leading provider of niche specialist services for the built environment.

FM Director is the flagship publication of FMBusinessDaily.com, written for and read by those you yield the most influence in the sector. Starting in 2022, it has quickly established itself amongst the leading titles in the industry. Its founding principle is simple: to provide the highest quality information to assist the FM sector to achieve higher levels of appreciation for the excellent value it delivers in buildings UK-wide and overseas.

The size and breadth of the supplement on PTSG reflects the huge developments that have taken place recently in all areas of the business. It signals the Group's intent to realise the enormous potential across the business, led by some of the most experienced figures across all areas of operation.

The special feature tells the story of a powerful new chapter at PTSG. From features and interviews with senior industry personnel to updates on the latest innovations and initiatives on achieving net zero, FM Director shines a light on what – and who – matters in FM.
