

CoSourced Group Invests in Pump Operations with Strategic Hire

2 years ago

Specialist HVAC and Fire and Smoke Control contractor, CoSourced Group, has appointed Sam Alderman to drive the operational excellence and growth of its pump division.

Recently recognised as one of the UK's fastest growing businesses by Fast Track 50, CoSourced Group continues to accelerate plans for sustainable growth. Deepening expertise across its specialised service lines is a key part of the firm's strategic vision.

With 18 years of experience in the industry, Sam brings extensive insight into the complexities of pump systems management to his new role; covering the full range of pump systems, including repair, overhaul, replacement, and upgrade. He is well-versed in maintenance procedures and fault-finding, as well as managing engineering teams and projects from the initial request to completion.

In his new role, Sam will be responsible for expanding the pump division, increasing customer offerings, and boosting the profitability of current projects. He will also lead the effort to build on the highly specialised team of pump engineers, strengthening CoSourced's in-house capabilities, while managing strategic partnerships for larger-scale pump projects.

Paul Blackford, CoSourced Group Founder said: "The growth of our boiler service division has led to significant demand from customers for maintenance solutions for all plant room equipment. "Sam's appointment marks an important step in our strategy to bring the pump works fully in-house, allowing us to offer more comprehensive services. His track record in successfully leading teams and overseeing pump projects will be invaluable in driving that strategy forward."

Commenting on his appointment, Sam said, "I'm excited to join CoSourced Group at such a pivotal time.

The potential for both personal and professional growth in this role is tremendous. I'm looking forward to shaping the pump division and contributing to the group's overall success."

CoSourced Group continues to strengthen its industry-leading position through targeted appointments such as Sam's, further enhancing its ability to deliver specialist expertise and unrivalled service to its diverse client base. Servicing some of the UK's most iconic sites, 200 serviced office contracts, 300 care homes, NHS Trusts and over 50 shopping centres across the UK.
