

Ayça Donaghy Joins the Board of LightingEurope

10 months ago

LightingEurope has announced the appointment of Ayça Donaghy, CEO of The Lighting Industry Association (LIA), to its Board. This follows the recent departure of Bob Bohannon.

With over 15 years in the electro-technical sector and an Executive MBA from London Business School, Ayça has demonstrated exceptional leadership at The LIA. She has initiated key programs addressing sustainability and skills gaps, and her advocacy for comprehensive regulations in UK has made a significant impact. Recently recognised in the '40under40' competition, her strong communication skills and diverse background further enhance her contributions.

"We are thrilled to welcome Ayça to our Board," said Elena Scaroni, Secretary General of LightingEurope. "She will bring strong value to our mission with her commitment to innovation and the skills gap."
