

Bidvest Noonan Named Supplier of the Year at The Global Light Rail Awards 2024

10 months ago

Bidvest Noonan has been named Supplier of the Year at The Global Light Rail Awards 2024, recognising the company's outstanding contributions over the past year at Keolis Amey Metrolink in Manchester and Keolis Amey Docklands in London.

The award was presented during a prestigious ceremony held at The Bloomsbury Ballroom in London, attended by industry leaders and stakeholders from across the globe, showcasing the best practices in light rail operations. This year's event brought together approximately 500 delegates and featured 150 entries from 12 countries, all competing for recognition in various categories.

As one of the most significant categories, Supplier of the Year highlights excellence in service delivery and partnership collaboration. Bidvest Noonan's recognition highlights its commitment to providing safe, clean, and sustainable services for passengers on the light rail network.

"This award is a fantastic achievement for both our London and Manchester teams," said Keith Middleton, Managing Director Transport at Bidvest Noonan. "We're proud of our strong partnerships and how they enable us to deliver such great service to our customers every day. It's all about teamwork, and this recognition inspires us to keep pushing for excellence."

Over the past year, the company has demonstrated its capability to provide efficient and sustainable solutions, supporting the operational needs of its clients.

This recognition further solidifies Bidvest Noonan's position as a leading provider of facilities management services in the transport sector, showcasing its dedication to enhancing the passenger experience and contributing positively to the communities it serves.
