10 months ago

Sitemark, a leader in Facilities Management (FM) consultancy, is excited to introduce its latest FM service, Security Consultancy and Reviews.

This new service will offer even greater value for Sitemark's clients and be added to its core FM services which include Cleaning Consultancy, Waste and Recycling Consultancy and Tender Management Consultancy. The Sitemark team has already received a lot of interest in its Security Reviews and are looking forward to working with clients to deliver this critical service.

The importance of security reviews

In the current environment, it's more important than ever to make sure an organisation's physical spaces are compliant with the latest security measures.

Many organisations don't realise that security systems and legislation have changed over the years, so a review is a good way to assess current security systems and understand the changes needed – some of which could be crucial – to get everything up to date. This is especially important for organisations such as universities, corporate campuses and hospitals who are responsible for safeguarding a wide range of people and assets across multiple sites.

Sitemark's extensive experience in Security

Adam Jones is Sitemark's highly experienced security specialist with over 40 year's experience at Senior Director level in facilities management. Adam is the lead consultant on all Sitemark's Security Reviews, which include in-depth assessments and recommendations to help organisations strengthen their security measures and ensure a safe environment for all stakeholders.

Adam explains, 'the outcome of a security review will be different for every organisation. Our key findings could include identifying a high-value asset that needs more robust protection, finding out-of-date access control, or checking that an organisation's current security service is up to standard and providing value-for-money. We cover every aspect of an organisation's security service to bring it right up to speed'.

What's included in Sitemark's Security Review and Consultancy?

The aim of Sitemark's Security Review is to identify and address potential vulnerabilities in an organisation's security infrastructure. Following a comprehensive assessment of the current situation, we make expert recommendations to improve an organisation's security service and ensure the safety of all personnel and physical assets.

This is the process for a Sitemark security review:

1. Background research
Sitemark request key organisational information to understand the full picture. This could include an organisation's current Security Strategy and any compliance information.
2. An on-site visit
The Sitemark security review looks at every aspect of an organisation's security service to understand its effectiveness. This stage can take a number of days. The review will include looking at access control, surveillance systems, perimeter protection, and on-site security personnel.
3. A comprehensive report
Based on the site visit, interviews and background reading, Sitemark collate all its findings in a comprehensive report.
4. Presenting the findings
Sitemark present the findings to the client, which will include recommendations to strengthen areas of weakness and ensure that security procedures are compliant with current legislation and meet best practice.
5. Ongoing support
Sitemark remain available to offer expert guidance on how to implement the recommendations to ensure the optimal outcome.

The benefits of a Security Review

At Sitemark, every Security Review is tailored to the organisation. We take into account factors such as the type of organisation, its location, the number of personnel, and the different levels of public access to individual buildings.

The key benefits of a security review for an organisation are:

- Improved Safety for employees, students, visitors, and assets.
- Identifying risks to prevent costly incidents and reduce the need for reactive measures.
- Operational continuity by having a well-secured environment that minimises disruptions.

- Peace of mind for staff and visitors, so that they can feel confident that their facilities are protected by industry-leading security practices and managed by experienced professionals.
- Ensuring value-for-money by understanding what's needed from a security service provider.
