

Hyde acquires Pinnacle to deliver a game changing moment for housing sector

10 months ago

The Hyde Group has shared the news that the Pinnacle Group (Pinnacle) is joining them.

Pinnacle is a national organisation that looks after over 70,000 homes on behalf of central and local government, investors and housebuilders. It also provides neighbourhood services on behalf of social housing providers, and delivers services supporting schools, hospitals, and local councils.

Bringing Pinnacle into the Hyde Group will help strengthen Hyde by generating additional resources, so they can meet the needs of their customers better. There won't be any immediate changes to services for Hyde customers and the dedicated neighbourhood and repairs teams remain unchanged.

Pinnacle will join the Hyde Group and operate as a subsidiary, keeping its existing team and continuing to deliver services to existing clients through its own day-to-day management. Hyde colleagues will continue to be focused on delivering great homes and services for Hyde customers.

By working together, the companies are excited about being able to offer even more customers across the country the opportunities to access the great services they provide.

Andy Hulme, Group Chief Executive Officer of The Hyde Group, said: "We're delighted to be welcoming Pinnacle into the Hyde Group. By combining our shared knowledge and expertise, we'll create communities that people can be proud of and deliver services they can rely on."
