

Novus announces South West England recruitment drive

5 months ago

Novus has announced a significant recruitment drive across the South West of England, following a series of contract wins in the region.

They are looking to fill up to 30 permanent vacancies across Bristol, Southampton and Yeovil over the coming months. These permanent positions include multi-trade roles with start dates from January 2025, and they are also seeking local supply chain partners.

Steve Gayter, Executive Director at Novus Property Solutions said: “We’re delighted to announce the creation of up to 30 roles in the South West of England following a period of significant growth in the region, further cementing our position as a contractor of choice.

“Novus is a family business and as such, we pride ourselves on putting people first and giving back to the communities we work in, which includes local employment and establishing local supply chain partners. We value all of our employees and supply chain partners, and remain committed to creating a workplace where everyone can thrive.”

As part of the recruitment drive, Novus will be hosting a series of recruitment open days across the South West: Tuesday 12th November at DoubleTree Hilton Hotel in Almondsbury, Wednesday 13th November at Novus Property Solutions Yeovil office, and Thursday 14th November at Southampton Central Hall.
