8 months ago

A TRAILBLAZING construction business well-known for creating better places for people to live across the North of England is expanding by launching a new roofing division.

Evolution, which takes pride in delivering quality renovations on social housing, sheltered housing, and private housing is starting a new roofing division after being successful in winning contracts in Blackpool and across the Fylde Coast.

The company, based in Blackpool, and highly respected for supporting communities with a range of pioneering initiatives wherever it operates, is creating career opportunities, including a role to head up its new roofing operation.

Managing Director JJ Fitzgerald said: "Evolution has always been built on the core foundations of providing people with better homes and creating job and career opportunities in the construction industry.

"It's about changing people's lives for the better. We renovate houses to give people quality homes and we provide jobs which help people build a better life.

"We are now in a position to offer a fantastic opportunity for someone to come in and join our business and head up and lead our new roofing division. This is a hugely exciting role as it gives someone a chance to help us build this new area of our business from the ground up and be in from the very start. The sky really is the limit."

Speaking about Evolution's recent contract success, JJ said: "We are delighted to have been successful in winning major contracts in Blackpool and the surrounding areas.

“As a local Blackpool-based company it gives us enormous pride and satisfaction to serve the Fylde Coast community.

“We care about our people, our places and our planet, and we are proud of how we support communities wherever we work.

“These contract wins enable us to create more job opportunities which further boost the Blackpool economy and, in turn, means we can support even more initiatives in the community.”

Evolution employs up to 80 people renovating private social housing, sheltered housing and private housing across the North of England in Blackpool, Manchester, Liverpool, Lancashire, Yorkshire and Cumbria.

As well as a Head of Roofing Division, Evolution is also offering immediate career opportunities for electricians and multi-skilled joiners.
