

New Commercial Director appointed to Skanska UK's Building Leadership Team

4 months ago

Nicola Astafanous' appointment to the leadership team, which oversees UK building projects, is effective immediately.

During her 18-year career at Skanska, Nicola has held a number of senior commercial roles across various sectors as well as within Skanska's commercial development business in Sweden. Most recently, she has led the UK's customer experience and market insights strategic function.

Terry Muckian, Executive Vice President for Building, said: "Nicola's extensive, hands-on experience in leading commercial strategy and enhancing relationships with customers will be a huge asset as we maintain our focus on driving value and quality of service for our customers. Her innovative approach, strategic vision and energy will be instrumental in strengthening our partnerships and driving sustainable growth into the future."

Nicola added: "Skanska's competitive edge is our reputation for consistently delivering high quality projects with a customer focused approach. I am excited to be joining Terry's team and look forward to working closely with him to deliver exceptional value for our customers and continue to build highly collaborative relationships into the future."